ZEVOY COOKIE POLICY

07/2022

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files saved on your computer or mobile device when you visit a website, mobile app or use an online platform. When you visit a website again, the cookie allows that site to recognize your browser. Cookies may store user preferences and other information.

The cookies used by Zevoy are grouped into categories, as described below. The description can help you understand the way our website uses cookies and help you determine if and how you would like to interact with our websites and online services.

Necessary cookies

Some cookies are required for technical reasons in order for our website to operate and we refer to these as "necessary" cookies. The website will not function properly without these cookies, and they are enabled by default and cannot be disabled. These cookies are for instance needed for security and for supporting functionality such as remembering the visitor's preferences to ensure that the website performs as intended.

You can set your browser to block or alert you about these cookies but blocking them will cause some parts of the website not to work.

Example:

- Google Tag Manager

Analytical cookies

These cookies are only used with your consent. They help us improve our website and its functionality and help us understand how effective our marketing campaigns are. We count the number of visitors on our website and collect aggregated visit behaviour. These cookies may be set by Zevoy or by third-party providers.

Examples:

- Google Analytics
- HubSpot
- Hotjar

Marketing cookies

These cookies are only used with your consent. These cookies enable Zevoy to place targeted content on other companies' websites and services. They are set through our site by advertising partners with the objective to display relevant ads on other sites.

Examples:

- Google Ads
- Facebook Ads
- LinkedIn Insight Tag

zevoy

Updates to this cookie policy

We will update this policy from time to time. You can always find the latest version of this Policy on our Website.